Royals face £1m cuts over Scots' devolution

SCOTLAND could cut its contribution to the British Monarchy by over £1million if plans for further devolution get the go-ahead.

The Royal Family could expect an annual cut of between £1m and £1.5m if profits from the Crown Estate in Scotland are retained by the Scottish Parliament rather than the UK Parliament in a year's time.

The details emerged as royal accounts released showed the cost travel increased by almost £1m during 2014/15 compared with the previous year.

But overall royal household expenditure remained the same.

A royal aide said negotiations were continuing between Westminster and Holyrood over financing, and said Scotland would continue to make contributions to the British monarchy.

He said any drop in funding from Scotland would not have any impact on the number of royal engagements in – or the monarchy's relationship with – Scotland, where the Queen spends much time in Balmoral.

Baroness sorry saying 'welch'

A GOVERNMENT minister apologised to the Lords after referring to private landlords who "welch from their obligation".

Communities and local government minister Baroness Williams of Trafford used the term during question time. But she apologised after Labour former attorney general Lord Morris of Aberavon urged her to withdraw the "inappropriate" word because of its linkage to Welsh people.

Lady Williams said: "I didn't mean it as a derogatory term to the Welsh."

TESCO ATTACK 'WAS REVENGE FOR LEE RIGBY'

Court told of brutal lunchtime machete attack

By NEIL GOODWIN

neil@sundaysport.co.uk

A WHITE supremacist shouted: "This is for Lee Rigby," as he brandished a machete and started hacking at an Asian dentist who had gone to Tesco to buy his lunch, a court has heard.

Zack Davies, 26, told police he had singled out Dr Sarande Bhambra because of his skin colour, yelling, "White supremacy!" and, "This is revenge!" as he attempted to sever his victim's left hand.

The terrified 24-year-old tried to escape up an aisle of the supermarket, a court heard.

His ordeal only ended when a former soldier bravely stepped in and persuaded Davies to drop his weapons. Davies later told police: "It was me. I did it for Lee Rigby."

White supremacist and neo-Nazi material was found when police later raided his home, his trial was told.

Items included swastika badges, Combat 18 stickers, a copy of Mein Kampf and a Far Right pamphlet dealing with the death of Drummer Rigby, the soldier hacked to death by Islamic extremists near Woolwich barracks in 2013.

Davies admits attacking Dr Bhambra in Mold, North Wales, because he was Asian, but denies attempted murder.

Hacking

Yesterday Mold Crown Court heard the victim's account of the attack.

"I'm extremely lucky to be alive," he told police. "I thought I was going to die."

Dr Bhambra, from Leeds, had gone to Tesco to buy lunch on January 14 when a "grinning" Davies came at him with a machete and a claw hammer, hacking at his head, hand and back.

PAYBACK: Davies

He said he was in no doubt that off-duty soldier Peter Fuller's intervention had saved his life.

"He would have hacked me to bits," he said. "I have no doubt in my mind that he was trying to kill me."

Mr Fuller said he saw Dr Bhambra fleeing up the aisle, but when the dentist doubled back and ran past him, he stood in Davies' way, shouting: "Stop, this is madness, I'm ex-forces."

Mr Fuller said: "The fact that I said I was an ex-soldier took the wind out of his sails."

He then persuaded Davies to put down his weapons and he kept him talking until police arrived.

The trial continues.

TRAGIC: Murdered squaddie Lee Rigby

Ex-Ofsted chief dies, aged 68

FORMER Ofsted boss Sir Chris Woodhead has died.

Sir Chris (above) was a high-profile head of the education watchdog between 1994 and 2000. He was diagnosed with motor neurone disease in 2006 and died aged 68.

His criticisms of classroom standards and "incompetent teachers" made him a controversial figure.

But the Ofsted chief had argued: "I am paid to challenge mediocrity, failure and complacency."

PM David Cameron tweeted: "Chris Woodhead started a crucial debate on school standards and reform. Meetings with him were never dull. My thoughts are with his family."

Education Secretary Nicky Morgan called him an "immense figure in the world of education", adding: "He was unafraid to speak his mind or challenge established orthodoxies. Our education system is the better for it."

Current Ofsted chief Sir Michael Wilshaw added: "He said the uncomfortable things that needed to be said."

Migrants cause Tunnel chaos

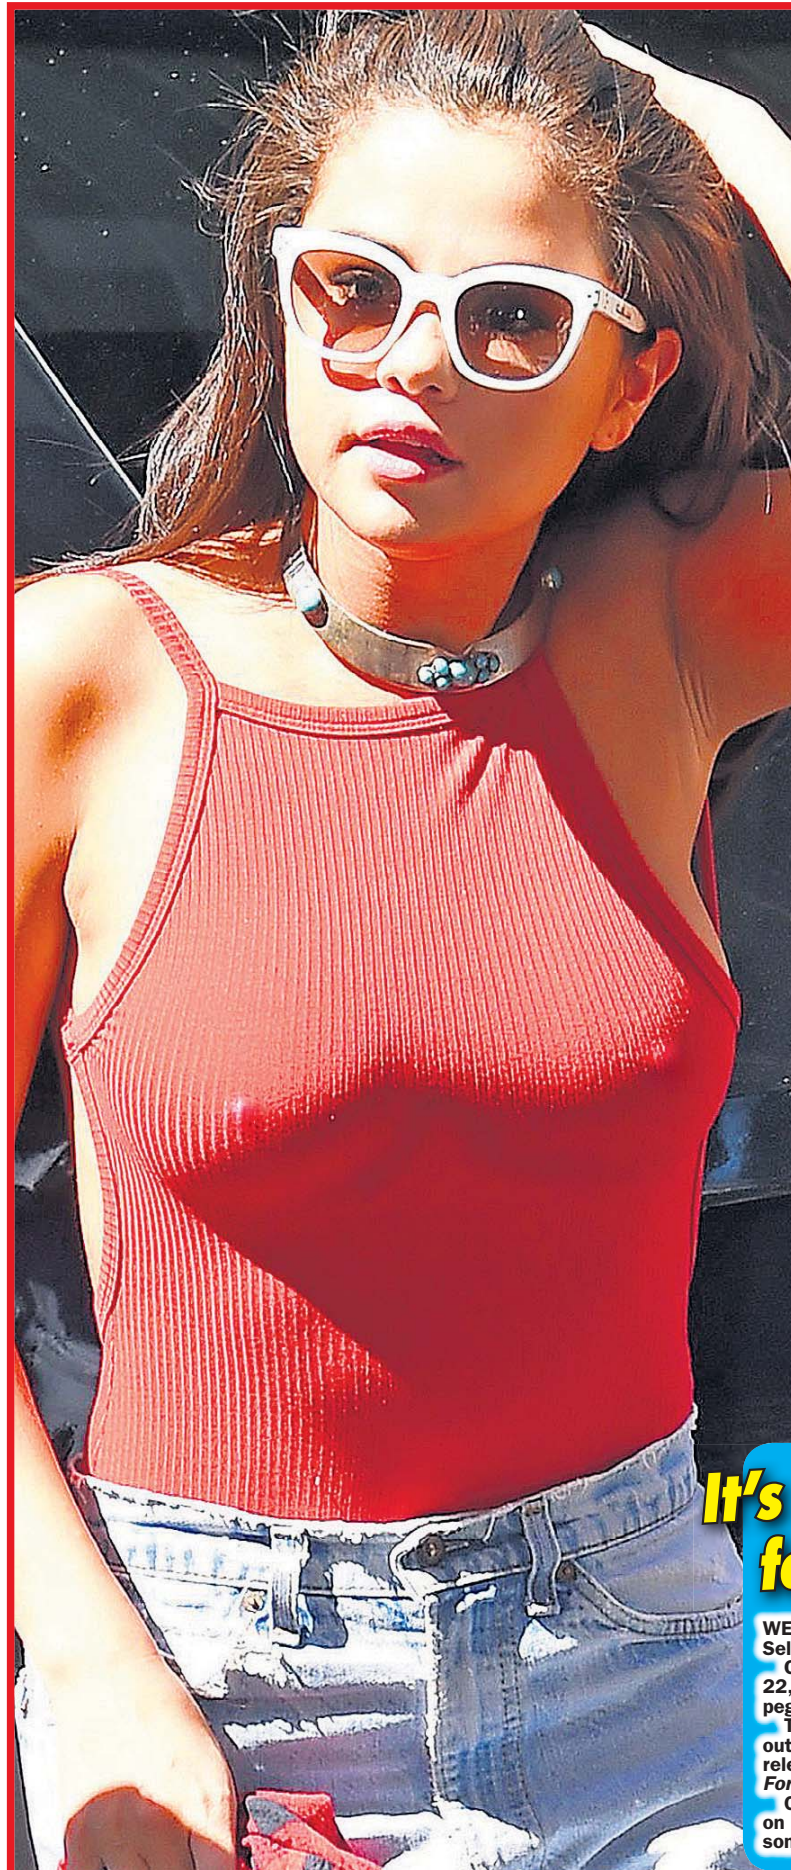

THE Channel Tunnel has been shut and services suspended after migrants caused mayhem in Calais by attempting to board UK-bound trucks.

Three trains stuck outside the tunnel on the English side had to return to St Pancras in London, while trains on the French side were taken back to Paris and Brussels.

Eurostar advised passengers not to go to stations.

The trouble began as migrants tried to exploit wildcat strike action by French ferry workers.

Lorry drivers in France were forced to slow or stop due to queuing traffic – and migrants took the opportunity to try to clamber on board vehicles heading for Dover.

Gemma wants her bum to be a BIG deal

CURVY Gemma Merna says she's desperate for a bigger BUM.

The former Hollyoaks actress reckons her small arse just isn't 'fashionable' enough.

So instead, the 31-year-old has been performing special exercises to put more junk up her trunk.

She said: "I never felt pressure to be slim when I was in Hollyoaks, as producers prefer you to be curvy than stick thin.

"But if there was a part of my body I could change, it would be my bum.

"I have a really small bum – and it's really in fashion to have a bigger bum.

"I keep doing squats to try to get it bigger. I'm trying my best, but it's still tiny.

One expert on getting a huge bottom advised: "Gemma should forget squats and just try eating loads of chips and kebabs instead.

"It works every time."

Cara: I just love being a stripper!

EXHIBITIONIST Cara Delevingne says she hates wearing clothes and prefers being NAKED instead.

The bisexual Brit beauty admitted this week she's in a relationship with US singer St Vincent – aka Annie Clark, 32.

And model and actress Cara, 22, likes to treat her female lover to a permanent view of her minge and boobs.

Cara, who's due to appear in upcoming comic book flick Suicide Squad, said: "I don't care a lot about fashion.

"I like clothes, just not all the time. I prefer to be naked. What can I say?"

Speaking about her relationship with Annie – a musician who sings about 'masturbating' on her track Birth In Reverse – Cara added: "I think that being in love with my girlfriend is a big part of why I'm feeling so happy with who I am these days."

Bannatyne regret over text mix-up

FORMER Dragons' Den star Duncan Bannatyne has admitted he regrets sending a text which suggested he would leak naked photos of his ex.

The multi-millionaire businessman, 66, has publicly fallen out with former girlfriend Michelle Evans, a beauty queen who dumped him on Twitter using his famous phrase, "I'm out!"

When Evans, 37, said that the tycoon implied he'd leak naked snaps of her, Bannatyne tweeted: "I hear there is a bunny boiler on the loose in UK?"

But, appearing on This Morning with new girlfriend Nigora Whitehorn – who he has been dating for around three weeks – Bannatyne claimed he NEVER intended to make the nude photos public.

He said of the text: "Obviously that was a mistake, but she was threatening to tell the story so I said, 'Well, are you happy for me to send a picture to show the pictures?"

"It doesn't say I was actually going to send them. I never intended to send them – I wouldn't do that."

999 LOOny makes an arse of himself

A MAN rang 999 begging police to "send someone quick, it's an emergency" – after he ran out of TOILET PAPER.

Devon and Cornwall Police have posted the call on YouTube to remind people not to abuse the emergency phone system.

A spokesman said: "It never ceases to amaze why some people turn to the emergency services.

"While we're sorting out these non-emergencies, lives may be lost if other people are in real trouble and need our help."

Other calls made to 999 include a man asking for an ambulance to attend a "hit-and-run" in Epping Forest, Essex. It turned out to be a squirrel.

A woman in Chelmsford, Essex, told 999 staff: "I've eaten too much takeaway."

And a man in Hitchin, Herts, rang to report: "I've been dieting and I feel lethargic."

PARAMEDIC 'FILMED EX-GIRLFRIEND HAVING SEX'

Footage shared with colleagues, tribunal told

FLATMATE: Guy Tanner admitted emailing colleagues sex video

A PARAMEDIC "thought her life had ended" when her former boyfriend put a camera in her bedroom and sent footage of her having sex to their workmates, a tribunal heard.

Guy Tanner had a three-year relationship with the woman, but they carried on living together for financial reasons when they split.

Tanner was enraged when she began seeing another ambulance worker and tried to bully her into quitting by threatening to tell their bosses she had been having sex with her new lover on duty.

He approached her in the yard at Deptford Ambulance Station in south-east London and yelled: "You have a week or I'll go through with it."

Tanner had secretly installed the camera in her bedroom and, when the paramedic refused to leave, he sent out an email with links to footage of her having sex with her new boyfriend.

There were also links to sex videos of the pair filmed before their split along with texts they had exchanged.

Threat

Tanner claimed she had put lives at risk by having sex with her lover in an ambulance when they were both supposed to be working.

The email was also sent to his victim, as well as their managers, the Health Care Professions Council, and several national newspapers.

Laura Ryan, for the HCPC, said: "There were allegations in relation to her, and a number of other trust staff, of a sexual nature."

"The story was printed in three newspapers and the matter was investigated by the London Ambulance Service."

"As part of that, Mr Tanner was interviewed and accepted sending the email and text messages to her. He said he had requested to move a number of times but that this request had been unsuccessful, which had contributed to his actions."

The woman said she "honestly thought her life had finished" and would never be able to work as a paramedic again after seeing the email.

She said: "He came up to me in the yard and said I had a week to hand in my notice or he would carry out the threat."

"I had to take two months' sick leave for stress and I received counselling from work."

"It was a terrible period of my life. I honestly thought I wouldn't be able to come back."

Revenge

Tanner was interviewed by police but he escaped a criminal prosecution as revenge porn laws didn't come in to force until February.

He wasn't present or represented at the HCPC hearing in south London, blaming his absence on poor health.

Tanner was sacked a month after the incident in November 2013 and faces being kicked out of the medical profession.

The hearing continues.

Rita shows cheeky side!

POP sexpot Rita Ora sent Instagram into a frenzy this week by posting this picture of her BOOTY-FUL backside.

The Black Widow singer shared the cheeky snap for her FIVE MILLION followers on Sunday.

Rita, 24, was dressed as a kinky DOMINATRIX – complete with thigh-high boots and S&M-inspired latex shorts – for a music video shoot.

The Kosovo-born star had a role in Madonna's new single Bitch I'm Madonna, alongside Miley Cyrus and Katy Perry. She wrote: "I miss my braids!!!! #bitchimadonnashoot #rebelhearts"

One follower summed up the feeling of most of her male fans, replying: "You know you aren't looking at her braids."

Twitter, asking her: "Can you please advise what you actually do?"

Clearly Sir Alan has never seen Paris, 34, engaged in kinky hardcore DIY sex tape action or during one of her stints as superstar nightclub DJ. And her fans were quick to slag off Sir Alan, 68, for having a pop.

One told him: "How many times are you going to make the same shit and unfunny comment Alan?"

Another rapped: "Lord sugar is a troll. Is it her fault she was born into wealth? Just let her be."

And one baffled male follower responded: "What, you haven't seen the video? She does brilliant blowjobs!"

Titchmarsh in 'bastard' TV outrage

GREEN-FINGERED Alan Titchmarsh caused upset on breakfast TV when he blurted out the word "bastard".

The mild-mannered star surprised viewers on the BBC when he used a gardening term which refers to the practice of "double digging".

But it was Breakfast hosts Louise Minchin and Charlie Stayt who dug themselves into a hole by apologising for the term being used.

Former Gardeners' World and Chelsea Flower Show presenter Titchmarsh said: "There's another name for it. It sounds dreadful, it's called bastard trenching."

Breakfast host Minchin apologised – much to the annoyance of Twitter users.

Mick Bruce wrote: "How pathetic of BBC Breakfast to apologise for using a legitimate gardening term."

Another, Oliver Arscott, wrote: "BBC apologising for Alan Titchmarsh using a naughty gardening term is the most British thing that has ever happened."

GRANNY HEAD CHOPPER CLEARED OF MURDER

Killer who beheaded 82-year-old ruled insane

A CANNABIS-FUELLED wannabe cage fighter who beheaded a great grandmother – believing her to be Adolf Hitler – has been cleared of murder.

Jurors took 30 minutes to unanimously decide Nicholas Salvador, 25, was mentally insane and not capable of murder.

Widow Palmira Silva, 82, was decapitated in her own back garden by paranoid schizophrenic Salvador.

In a terrifying 45-minute rampage he was caught on CCTV attacking Mrs Silva after beheading two cats.

The killer called upon "Allah" and claimed "I am king" then held up the head of Mrs Silva to a police chopper in triumph as armed officers desperately scrambled to the scene in Edmonton, north London.

He also bit a chunk out of a police officer's leg and had to be Tasered SIX TIMES, hit with truncheons, punched and sprayed with CS spray before he was finally subdued.

Jonathan Rees, QC, for the prosecution, said there was no dispute that Salvador had killed the widow, but that he denied murder by reason of insanity.

Mr Rees said Salvador, who smoked skunk – a potent form of cannabis blamed for hallucinations, anxiety and paranoia – had lost his job in billboard advertising three days earlier and was staying with a "host family" three doors away from Mrs Silva.

He armed himself with a wooden pole and a large knife, before going on a "rampage".

The prosecutor said: "He decapitated two cats belonging to his host family."

Psychiatrists concluded he was suffering from paranoid schizophrenia and was legally insane when he decapitated Mrs Silva.

In his closing speech to the jury, Mr Rees said: "This was a deeply upsetting and horrific incident. Mrs Silva was not targeted because of who she was – she just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Salvador was transferred to the maximum security Broadmoor hospital. He told psychiatrists the victim was Adolf Hitler, his mother or a demon.

Prosecution psychiatrist Dr Philip Joseph said Salvador was insane at the time of the killing and would be in Broadmoor for "a good few years".

MANIAC ON THE RAMPAGE

DERANGED Nicholas Salvador wields a bloody machete in the streets of north London – just moments after DECAPITATING an elderly widow.

CCTV footage released by the Met Police shows the twisted cage fighter's 45-minute rampage through the Edmonton following the murder of Palmira Silva.

Salvador brandishes the huge blade before smashing through the back door of a house and trying to smash a car window.

The 14-minute video was shown to the jury and members of the elderly victim's family yesterday.

Cop sacked for watching porn at work

A POLICE officer was dismissed for watching pornography at work, an investigation has revealed.

Since 2012, at least 69 officers from across the North East region have been investigated for breaking rules around computer use, according to figures detailed in a Freedom of Information request.

One officer from Northumbria Police was sacked in 2012 for viewing porn on a police computer.

Two officers from Durham Constabulary were disciplined for disclosing information to suspects, while another 20 were investigated for breaching the force's computer use policy.

Seven Durham officers were investigated in relation to allegations of disclosing information to outside individuals.

Of 12 officers investigated by Northumbria over social media sites, one was disciplined for inappropriate behaviour towards colleagues via text and social media.

Another faced "management action" over inappropriate and offensive comments posted on social media.

One Northumbria officer quit after being accused of spending too much time online and a colleague got a written warning for inputting inappropriate remarks onto the 'officer duty state screen'.

Drunk's 'lock at me, mum' prank

A RED-FACED reveller was frogmarched to his local fire station by his furious mum when he woke up with a bike lock around his neck after a drunken prank backfired.

The victim, in his 20s, woke up on Sunday afternoon after an all-night drinking session to find his pals had put a high-security lock on him – but lost the keys.

Firefighters later used a circular saw, normally used to rescue car crash victims, to release him.

Pictures of the man with the lock hanging around his neck and another showing it being cut off were tweeted by West Midlands Fire and Rescue Service.

One firefighter said: "His mum brought him in. He really did have his tail between his legs.

"We tried a cutter, but it just marked the lock."

WOMAN SCHOOL HEAD HAD SEX WITH 2 BOYS

Affairs started with game of dare when she bared her boobs

A RENOWNED female head teacher had affairs with two teenage boys after seducing them with a game of 'dare'.

Anne Lakey, 55, from Stanley, Co Durham, was yesterday found guilty of having underage sex with the two lads.

She had denied 13 counts of indecent assault on two teenagers in the 1980s.

But a jury at Teesside Crown Court found her guilty of all charges after a two-week trial.

The court heard how she carried out the assaults over a three-year period.

One victim told the court how they had sex after performing a comedy routine with him sitting on her knee and pretending to be Orville the duck.

Lakey later played a game of dare with the teenager which involved him fondling her breasts.

They also had sex in her bedroom when he was still in his school uniform and she lay down naked in front of him and said: "Well what are you going to do then?"

The first complainant came forward in 2012 after finding a blog written by her while looking for a nursery place for his young daughter. In it she wrote that her "raison d'être was to give young people the best start in life".

The man, who is 41 and was 13 or 14 when the abuse began in 1987, was outraged and went to the police.

The second victim went to

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

police last December and said he had been abused by Lakey when he was 15, on a camping trip in 1989.

Prosecutor Caroline Goodwin told the court: "Her conduct demonstrates that here was a sexual predator who exploited the situation she was in."

"It was the sexual abuse of young vulnerable boys whom she groomed for her own personal gratification."

Lakey also gained the trust of the first boy on a camping trip.

Ms Goodwin added: "They did a comedy routine at one of the camping trips where he played Orville the duck and sat on her knee."

Fondling

"The relationship became sexual when the boy began visiting her home."

Ms Goodwin said it began when she invited him to play a "dare game" which involved him fondling her bare breasts.

She said he would sit outside her bathroom door chatting as she bathed, and added: "She got out of the bath and having wrapped a towel around her she walked past him and into the bedroom."

"She took the towel off and lay it on the bed. She was naked. She knew exactly what she was doing.

"He was standing right next to her and she said: 'Well what are you going to do then?'"

"He knew it was sexual but he had not had sex before and felt clumsy. She lay on the bed and he, dressed in his school uniform, lay on top of her, kissing."

They would meet for sex a couple of times a week when Lakey's then husband was out.

The boy eventually ended the relationship because he was worried by the lying and feared her husband would catch them.

Ms Goodwin said the abuse of the second boy began on a summer camp in Northumberland with Lakey tickling him and fun fighting.

Ms Goodwin said: "She pulled him on top of her. She said to him, 'What do you think about what nearly happened?' He wasn't aware anything had happened and left a little confused."

At the camp she had sex with the boy after inviting him into her tent while her husband was in his own tent.

The relationship ended when the boy saw her with someone else and was "no longer needed".

Lakey, who was a History and RE teacher in Sunderland at the time of the affairs, has been married three times.

Lakey will be sentenced today (Wednesday).

Petrolhead Dermot's 'no' to Top Gear

FORMER The X Factor host Dermot O'Leary has ruled himself out of working on the new Top Gear show.

The 42-year-old telly star (above) was tipped as a possible co-presenter alongside Chris Evans, who has signed up for the reincarnation of the motoring programme following Jeremy Clarkson's exit.

O'Leary, who quit the ITV talent show after eight series, told Good Morning Britain: "I love my cars ... but I think ... he's [Evans] such a main man."

"He's a big deal for me – he's one of the main reasons why I got into television in the first place. But I imagine he'll want his own team on it."

Asked whether he could join Evans on a new team, Dermot said: "I doubt it. If I was going to do it, I would want to do what Chris is doing – and he's in charge of it."

The presenter has also firmly denied speculation that he could join this year's Strictly Come Dancing, saying: "I don't want to be a contestant."

Sex assault air rage drunk gets 9mths in prison

AN airline passenger who was so drunk he did not know what country he was in has been jailed for nine months after forcing a plane to be diverted during a mid-air bust-up.

After the plane was diverted to Gatwick in West Sussex, Tosh had to be carried off by officers, who also had to put him in a hood – to stop him spitting at them.

Tosh, of Dundee, pleaded guilty to sexual assault, threatening and abusive behaviour, assault and being drunk on an aircraft when he appeared at Lewes Crown Court.

Rap star Puff arrested over football match fight

HIP HOP mogul P Diddy has been arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

The alleged incident occurred on Monday afternoon on the University of California campus in Los Angeles, where his son is on the football team.

The weapon in question was a kettlebell, which is used for weight training.

P Diddy – whose real name is Sean Combs – was released on $160,000 (£101,000) bail on Monday evening.

Officials did not identify the victim of the assault or say what led to the incident. In a statement, campus police said no-one was seriously injured.

P Diddy's son, Justin Combs, had been working out on the campus. He has played just a handful of games for the UCLA football team since joining three years ago.

Football coach Jim Mora said: "This is an unfortunate incident for all parties involved."

"While UCPD continues to review this matter, we will let the legal process run its course and refrain from further comment at this time."

It is not the first time P Diddy – he changed his name from Puff Daddy – has been in trouble. In 1999, he was arrested for his involvement in the beating of former Interscope executive Steve Stoute.

He apologised, the charges were reduced, and he was ordered to attend an anger management class.

The rap mogul topped a Forbes list of the five wealthiest hip-hop artists last year with an estimated fortune of $700million (£416m).

STRAIGHT TALKING

FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

Stop wasting 'aid' on corrupt dictators

● CONGRATULATIONS to Aljaz Bedene on being crowned champion at the 2015 Liverpool Hope University International Tennis Tournament at the weekend.

Slovenian-born Aljaz became a British citizen earlier this year and is second only to Andy Murray in the rankings.

He beat Spaniard Pablo Andujar to seal success in a competition that provides yet more testament that my home city continues to blossom.

After his success Aljaz stated he was extremely proud to win such a fantastic event and declared he is now feeling much more confident for Wimbledon!

Andy Murray has already come out and said how impressed he is by Aljaz's qualities as a player.

It was the 25-year-old's first tournament win since becoming a British citizen.

Well done, Aljaz – let's hope it's the first of many!

ALL the papers have been reporting that the Tory Government is due to begin a programme of £12billion cuts to the welfare bill.

Although the full details have yet to be released, it's expected that the cuts will be made to the benefits cap – from £26,000 to £23,000 – and to tax credits.

David Cameron has said in the past few days that these cuts will make Britain "fairer".

Balancing the books so the Government is not spending more than it earns is a good thing, and there are certainly areas of the £220bn annual welfare bill that need to be looked at.

However I am deeply concerned that the next round of cuts could see the poorest and most vulnerable members of our society worse off.

Welfare is a big topic. Last weekend, tens of thousands attended a rally in London to show their opposition to further welfare cuts.

However, in reality it was just one big Russell Brand and Charlotte Church public relations event.

This protest rally, like many others organised by the hard left, ended up being much about bashing the bankers, the rich and anyone who does not fit in with their utopian point of view, while not providing any meaningful alternative to funding our benefits bill.

If the Prime Minister is serious about wanting to balance the books and make Britain "fairer", he should be looking to cut the foreign aid bill first and foremost, not increasing it.

Corrupt

Last year, the UK government paid out £11.7bn on foreign aid – and that figure is set to rise by £1bn over the next two years.

As a percentage of national income, we are already amongst the most generous of nations in giving away our hardworking taxpayers' cash – beaten only by super-rich Luxembourg and the likes of Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Where exactly is our £11.7bn going to? Sadly, not to poor people in poor countries, as many of you might expect.

A lot of this aid doesn't go to feeding starving people affected by drought or famine, nor does it go to natural disaster relief. The main benefactors of foreign aid are rich, corrupt dictators.

Take Denis Sassou Nguesso, the President of the Republic of Congo. In 2013, it was revealed that he had spent £1m of aid money on clothes he never wore more than once.

How about Yoweri Museveni, President of Uganda. In 2011, he spent £30m of UK aid money on a private jet for himself.

Meanwhile, the population of Uganda is one of the most poverty stricken and HIV-ridden in the world.

It is an insult to vulnerable people in the UK that they face having their benefits lifeline cut while more and more money is frittered away on corrupt third world dictators.

If we really do want to make this country "fairer", we need to stop wasting billions abroad and spend it on our vulnerable at home instead.

THIS WEEK?

There's no place for a woman on Top Gear!

HANDS up all those who are bursting with equality pride at the news that a woman will definitely be co-host on the new look Top Gear.

No one? Not even you at the back? Yes, you with the ostentatious charadee bangles on your wrist?

Strange. Because the way the BBC and its cheerleaders are going on about it, you'd think it was the most important thing that's ever happened since the dawn of actual time itself.

Doesn't this sort of stuff drive – ahem – you mad?

To me it smacks of pure patronising tokenism – and I fail to see how tokenism can ever make anything better.

Love it or hate it, Top Gear is touted as the world's most-watched TV programme and the reason a large number of people of all ages and sexes watch it – my missus included – is not entirely because they're all really into cars.

It's because they like a laugh – which for anyone working in the BBC or the Guardian is a giddy feeling of mirth, happiness and contentment experienced by those who exist in the real world.

It's true, of course, that Clarkson and co were boorish and middle-aged and looked daft in bad jeans – but their juvenile banter, however predictable, always offered an entertaining way to pass an hour on Sunday evenings.

Yurts

Delightfully politically incorrect, they ticked all the "no" boxes that the vastly minority PC brigade utterly detest – which was precisely why they did what they did, and why it was so successful. And there is nothing that the PC brigade hates more than the weight of worldwide public opinion against them, which made Top Gear even more fun. Take that, you bores...

But depressingly, it seems they are going to get their way in the end – no doubt high-fiving each other about it inside their multi-sexual disabled love yurts.

Don't get me wrong – Chris Evans is a superb broadcaster and will, of course, step up to the plate.

But he will be taking on a real poisoned chalice – a bit like poor David Moyes having to follow Sir Alex Ferguson into the hotseat at Manchester United. Then there's the individual who will be sitting in the Token Woman Chair.

Who'd really want that? And will it help steer Top Gear to its eventual demise?

Not that there's any reason why a woman SHOULDN'T present a car show – but it just doesn't fit the show that is Top Gear, does it?

I'm not going to be asked to present BBC Radio 4's Woman's Hour any time soon, am I? Nor will I get offered the chance to take one of the permanent seats on the Loose Women panel.

But I fear whoever gets the "woman" role will forever be just that – The One They Had To Have In Order To Keep The Guardian Happy.

Because they're the only ones the BBC seems to want to please.

As for the viewers – who cares? They only pay for it.

● THE galloping arrogance of "funny man" Russell Brand knows no bounds. He's now claiming that Labour lost the election because he advised people not to vote – while he had his sixth form scribbles on revolution to flog, mind – before then endorsing doomed Ed Miliband. Two words, Rusty – second one is "off".

DAN'S THE MAN FOR FOOT SEX WITH GRAN!

PROPER NAUGHTY: Danny was turned on by toe job

EastEnders actor Dyer admits kinky sex act

UNDER-FIRE soap star Danny Dyer has admitted a taboo foot sex session with a saucy 50-year-old!

The EastEnders actor has denied rumours he's cheated on fiancée Joanne Mas in recent weeks, after being photographed embracing other women.

And, while he says the allegations are "bollocks", Danny once described how he loves his testicles and todger massaged by an older lass's TOES!

The 37-year-old said: "When I was about 20 I slept with an older lady.

"She must have been about 50. She, er, pleased me with her feet. I was like, 'Wow!'"

Thesp Danny, who shot to fame in 2000 flick Human Traffic and also appeared in cult horror Severance, says he also loves to watch a lady pleasure herself.

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

The voyeur admitted: "I love it when a girl masturbates in front of me. I've got a big pair of bollocks and a big cock."

And Danny really knows how to treat a woman. Speaking about his gift-buying skills, he added: "I'd get her some anal beads, or maybe a shish kebab with all the trimmings."

Danny, who plays Albert Square's Mick Carter, also says he once got a BONK-ON while pretending to shag Gillian Anderson on 2007 movie Straightheads.

He laughed: "I done a film with Gillian and in the scene I couldn't get it up - but in real life, I was aroused. "Did she notice? Course she did."

50 Shades fans in mass buy-out

DISTRIBUTORS are having to send out extra emergency copies of the new Fifty Shades book, as "mummy porn" fans go nuts for Grey.

And one Waterstone's store in Burton-upon-Trent sold out TWICE in a day as they shifted more copies than their flagship Piccadilly store in London.

The shop first ran out of the latest E L James novel by 1pm on Thursday - the day the fourth in the series was launched.

Melissa Whiteman, 31, manager at Waterstones in Burton, said: "This is just bananas - I just can't believe how popular it has been.

"I have even had to empty the window of the books because I did a lovely display with them on Wednesday night.

"Half of the customers have been buying more than one book!"

HAPPY HOLIDAYS:

Corrie 'lesbo' stars in sexy bikini pool romp

By ANN COATES

news@sundaysport.co.uk

THESE two Corrie babes are clearly the breast of friends!

Brooke Vincent and Sacha Parkinson, 23, are so close, they even holiday together.

The pair pretended to be full-on lesbians for the ITV soap until Sacha, 23, left the cobbles a couple of years ago.

But they are still really good mates, as you can see from these amazing pictures of the pair parading their beautiful bodies in skimpy bikinis.

They were snapped on holiday in sunny Spain where Brooke, who plays Sophie Webster, frolicked with her blonde pal in their hotel pool to keep cool.

Temperatures soared poolside – not least for the lucky sods who got to watch it all first-hand. One

LEZ IS MORE! Brooke and Sacha give holidaymakers an eyeful and (below) lock lips in Corrie holidaymaker said: "I was pretty much gobsmacked to see the two Corrie lesbians together."

"I was hoping to see them lez up for a bit, they didn't, so I had to watch them bounce around in skimpy bikinis instead."

"Sacha's boobs are amazing, I hope she comes back to Corrie soon!"

Since she quit playing Sian Powers, Sacha has gone on to star in Channel 4's The Mill and ITV's Mr Selfridge.

BGT Susan Boyle calls cops over phone pest

BRITAIN'S Got Talent sensation Susan Boyle has been receiving threatening phone calls, police confirmed.

The terrified singer called cops after a stranger called her at home in Blackburn, West Lothian, 10 times over the weekend.

The man allegedly swore at her and told her, "I know where you live."

Officers have taken a statement from the star and said inquiries are ongoing.

The 54-year-old said she is "really worried" about the calls, adding: "I haven't slept much since they started. I have no idea who the person is – or why they have chosen to call me."

"The police were very reassuring – saying all the right things. But deep down, I am really worried."

Her performance of I Dreamed A Dream on the ITV talent show back in 2009 helped turned Susan into an international star, with her first album selling millions of copies.

She has since sung for the Pope, the Queen and at the opening ceremony of the Glasgow 2014 Commonwealth Games.

Last year she was diagnosed with Asperger's syndrome which can make her panic.

Breast is 'not best' for adults, warn experts

BOFFINS are warning health fanatics they are at risk of serious food poisoning from the latest "superfood" – human breast milk.

Fitness fans reckon it can boost health and well-being and ward off diseases and the milk is now being sold online in a lucrative market for adult buyers.

But experts believe that drinking human breast milk could pose serious health risks.

Writing in the Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine, Sarah Steele, of Queen Mary University of London, said: "No scientific study evidences direct adult consumption of human milk for medicinal properties offers anything more than a placebo effect."

She added that failure of women to sanitise properly when producing milk, failure to sterilise equipment properly, and improper or prolonged storage and transportation of milk can also expose consumers to bacterial food-borne illnesses.

epidemic

FASHIONABLE India Pale Ale beers are giving Brit boozers a tidal wave of MAN BOOBS, according to one worried expert.

Sales of IPAs are up 50 per cent on last year and also make up a quarter of all craft beer sales in the UK.

But the hop-heavy tipples could be giving fans pendulous knockers.

Herbalist Stephen Harrod Buhner, author of Sacred and Herbal Healing Beers, says IPAs are full of phytoestrogen – plant estrogen known to grow breast tissue.

Worse still, they could also give boozers a floppy cock!

Erection

He writes: "From long-term exposure to the estrogenic properties of hops, heavy drinkers eventually have difficulty sustaining erection."

"Severe drinking can also damage the liver, which undermines the organ's ability to metabolize hormones.

"An inefficient liver will convert male androgens into the estrogens, resulting in the dreaded 'man-boobs' – or 'moobs'."

Craft brewers typically use four to five times more hops than other mass-produced beer, and as a result, hops are also in short supply.

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

SO it looks like Jessica Wright is going to leave The Only Way Is Essex.

Personally, I think she's making the right decision. She's been there since the first series and it's time to call it a day.

And it's hardly like she's giving up the opportunity of a lifetime, is it?

Let's face it, that programme is a sinking ship!

I tuned in recently and it was so fking DULL! I was bloody disappointed.

When it first started on ITV2, I thought TOWIE was fantastic telly. It was funny and packed full of drama.

But now I don't even recognise anybody that's on the show!

Who are all these people? It's like the producers just picked up random blokes from Essex and said, 'Do you fancy being on telly?'

I miss the original stars like Mark Wright and gorgeous Lucy Mecklenburgh and Joey Essex – they were real personalities who always gave viewers good storylines.

Now it's all so BORING that they need to fly off to Marbella to get publicity. Seriously, is anybody paying any attention these days?

I think Jessica probably wants to follow in her brother Mark's footsteps. He left the show years ago and his career has skyrocketed – and now he's married to a beautiful, classy woman, too.

And, I tell you what, you wouldn't see Michelle Keegan showing up on TOWIE. No way.

Who knows what Jess will do next?

Apparently she wants to write novels.

Now I doubt she'll actually write them herself, but she could make serious money. Just look at Katie Price.

She should definitely stay away from fashion and modelling though. I think that's a recipe for disaster.

But I've always thought her make-up looked great – perhaps she could release her own brand?

That would be more suited to her looks and personality.

BUST-UP: Topless model Hannah split from Jon – her lover on ITV show

IT has been getting slated by the critics, but I've really enjoyed ITV2's current series of Love Island.

And it was all kicking off this week when 'official couple' Hannah Elizabeth and Jon Clark split up.

In past episodes the contestants had paired up – but only Hannah and Jon agreed to be 'boyfriend and girlfriend'.

And after being together for a whole week, it looks like Hannah has changed her mind.

What a surprise! Did somebody say 'trouble in paradise'?

Basically, it all started when Jon was relaxing by the villa's pool with Naomi Ball – and she started stroking his hair.

Now that doesn't sound too bad, right?

But things looked pretty suspicious when Scouse glamour girl Hannah caught them in the act.

She stormed off in a jealous rage and Jon and her argued most of the day.

By the evening, Hannah was in tears and claimed she wanted to leave the show! Poor girl.

I must admit, I do feel sorry for her.

But I also think she over-reacted to the situation. It wasn't like they were kissing or anything!

Hannah found it disrespectful – but I personally feel this shows more about her insecurities than Jon's behaviour. Hopefully they can work things out together.

They are definitely the best couple on the show so far!

LISTEN up boys, because I have a very saucy confession to make... I've broken THREE beds in the past while having SEX!

And while I'm slightly proud of that fact, I'm also determined that it doesn't happen again!

So this week I was busy shopping for a brand new mattress than can handle my rampant sex drive.

After a few days spent looking around – and jumping on LOTS of display beds – I settled on a luxury mattress from Laura Ashley.

It cost me £2,000 – but, trust me, it's worth every last penny.

It just feels so comfortable.

And you can guarantee it's going to see some red-hot action this week!

You can really feel the rhythm when you're bonking – and I can't wait to get frisky tonight!

Now I'm looking forward to getting a new bed frame that can take some heavy-duty knocks.

I has to be solid and sturdy – and it needs to be able to handle a pair of handcuffs!

The last thing I need is ANOTHER bed to collapse during rough sex.

But to be fair, it never really bothered me in the past.

I'd always say, 'Don't worry about it – just keep going... keep going!'

STARS: Chris and Bryce

I WAS on the edge of my seat watching Jurassic World this week... and I was seriously impressed!

The special effects and dinosaur scenes were absolutely mind-blowing.

But there was only one problem... there wasn't enough SEX!

I kept waiting to see hunky male lead Chris Pratt strip off and get frisky with his co-star Bryce Dallas Howard.

But unfortunately it never happened. What a shame!

I also kept thinking to myself that he would be a PERFECT Christian Grey!

Don't you think? He would be much better in Fifty Shades than current star Jamie Dornan – who I just think isn't that attractive.

Chris Pratt is so bloody hunky, totally sexy and you can bet he's a beast in the bedroom, too!

Hannah's in S Club heaven!

NOW this is interesting – S Club 7 singer Hannah Spearritt has DUMPED her fiancé for her bandmate Paul Cattermole!

Hannah dated Paul – also a crooner and backing dancer – for almost five years back in the day.

And following the band's reunion tour last year, the former couple have decided to, well, 'reunite' themselves!

For some reason, I found this story really fascinating.

I can imagine that dating a band member is rather like having a holiday romance.

Stale

You're constantly having fun, dancing and singing... it's the total opposite of staying at home with your partner, where things can get 'stale' sometimes.

With your endorphins running wild, it's pretty clear why performers end up having affairs. It's easily done, actually.

And the fact Hannah and Paul had slept together before probably didn't help matters!

She was probably looking at him, thinking to herself: 'I've had your ck before... I wonder what you've learned since then!

REUNITED: Hannah & Paul

Well, wouldn't any woman feel just a bit curious?

There must have been sexual tension for weeks!

Her poor fiancé didn't stand a chance!

EGGHEAD'S SHOCK CONFESSION:

Stephen Fry: My cruelty to hamsters

YOU RAT!
Fry made a kid cry

POSH luvvie Stephen Fry has admitted he once KICKED a hamster straight through an open window!

The 57-year-old says he even made a small child CRY with his bizarre act of cruelty.

But thankfully the QI host said the little rodent was none the worse for the horror incident.

Speaking on the brainiac gameshow, Fry revealed: "I was visiting a friend's house."

Shocking

"I'd gone to the loo and came back out.

"It was a summer's day and there was a big open window over the lawn and there was a football.

"I kicked the football through the window, and a child burst into tears.

"It had a hamster in it! It was a hamster ball!"

"I didn't know - I'd never seen such a thing!

"There are these balls that you put hamsters in. It was terrible, it was shocking!"

Fry's QI colleague Alan Davies asked: "What happened to the hamster?"

Fry replied: "It was fine, it was a little dizzy."

PORN STAR JAILED OVER DOG ATTACKS

A BUSTY porn star is behind bars after letting her Staffordshire bull terrier attack her neighbours and maul their dogs TWICE.

Charlotte Anson, 27, was handed an eight-month prison sentence at Liverpool Magistrates' Court after admitting two dangerous dog charges.

And the court also heard how Anson - aka 30D adult performer and high class escort Lottie Lovelace - describes herself as the "ultimate porn playmate".

The first incident occurred in September last year when Anson's pooch Missey jumped over a 6ft garden wall and attacked a Yorkshire terrier and its owner Janet Brand.

In November Missey was at it again, biting a second neighbour, Chelsea Cruddas, on the hand while trying to attack her pet dog.

Ms Cruddas told the court: "Since the incident I have been extremely cautious as I walk past my neighbour's house."

"I have had to move away from my address - which has put stress on my relationship."

"I know that was my choice, but as a direct result of this incident I have anxiety and depression."

Richard Whitehead, defending Anson, said there had been no problems with the dog scaling the fence for two years, but he accepted the final responsibility was down to his client.

Passing sentence, District Judge Miriam Shelvey said: "These offences are serious because injury was caused. I have taken into account that the injuries were minor, but the effect on the victim is severe, having had to move house."

Judge Shelvey ordered compensation of £500 to Ms Cruddas and £300 to Ms Brand, to be paid on Anson's release.

On her Adultwork profile, Anson charges £180 an hour for sex, offering "watersports" and "rimming".

Botox makes you look like a KLINGON

TV presenter Lorraine Kelly has slammed modern celebrities who use botox – saying they look like KLINGONS!

She told OK magazine she's strictly anti-botox and would never have the treatment herself. "I've seen far too many people looking like Klingons and I don't want to look like that."

The 55-year-old posed for photos during an exclusive spread for the latest issue of the mag, alongside daughter Rosie.

Lorraine revealed how she had wanted another child, but had suffered a miscarriage.

She said: "Another baby would have been super but, hey, it didn't happen."

"I had a miscarriage when Rosie was about five."

On growing up with Lorraine as her mum, Rosie said: "I don't see her as famous – she's just my mum!"

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

THESE are the stunning curves said to be making bisexual pop babe Miley Cyrus SING between the sheets!

The American warbler is thought to have shackled up with New Zealand fashion model Stella Maxwell, 25.

The pair have shared loved-up snaps together on Instagram and were spotted checking-in to a hotel in New York earlier this week.

And one look at Victoria's Secret pin-up Stella in action and you can see why Miley will be sticking her tongue out even more often than usual.

Exposing

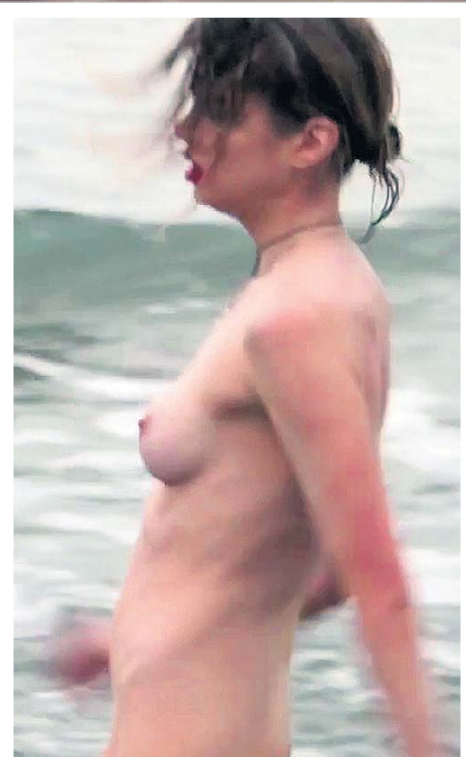

Gorgeous Stella, born in Belgium, bared all last year for a short film called La Playita.

It sees her writhing around on a sandy beach while exposing her wind-stiffened nips and bald minge.

One fan said: "The film is a load of arty farty drivel, but Stella deserves an Oscar for her naked performance. "Miley is a very lucky lady."

Wrecking Ball singer Miley recently admitted she swung both ways following her split from Patrick Schwarzenegger.

She said that not all of her past relationships have been 'straight, heterosexual' ones.

Paris confirms Olympics bid

PARIS has announced its bid for the 2024 Olympics, with the French capital aiming to mark 100 years since it previously hosted the Games.

The city has bid unsuccessfully on three previous occasions – 10 years ago it lost out to London for the 2012 Olympics, and also failed in bids for the 2008 and 1992 Games.

Paris 1924 became known as the "Chariots of Fire" Games after the film celebrating the achievements of British runners Harold Abrahams and Eric Liddell.

Bernard Lapasset, the head of World Rugby, has been appointed chairman of Paris 2024.

He said in a statement: "Paris is delighted to confirm its bid for the 2024 Games."

"We believe our bid will excite, unite and enthuse the people of Paris."

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

THOSE who say blondes have more fun clearly haven't seen busty brunettes Jess Impiazzi and Nickie Ann in steamy red-hot action!

The raven-haired beauties stripped off to compare boobs for this sizzling photoshoot.

And whether you prefer 25-year-old Jess's 32E curves, or 24-year-old Nickie's pert 32C handfuls, these pics are sure to have you turning to the dark-haired side.

Telly star Jess, from Haslemere, Surrey, who recently appeared on MTV's Ex On The Beach, said: "I'm definitely not a lesbian, but I do love doing girl-on-girl shoots. Women look so amazing naked."

Meanwhile Nickie, from Blackpool, Lancs, added: "I've had lesbian flings with some of my closest female friends and I'm proud of my sexuality."

"While I've not a threesome yet, I would love to meet a guy who'd be willing to have one with me and one of my sexy girl mates!"

Bathroom row letter box pee bandit nabbed

COPS are celebrating after they caught a serial letter box PISS bandit.

Disgusted kitchen and bathroom store owner Steve Johnson repeatedly found his doormat and delivered post 'soiled' by a mystery urinator.

In the end Johnson set up CCTV cameras to snare the fiend.

And it has led to David Azari, 30 (below), being arrested by police in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Former Iraq war veteran Azari has been charged with misdemeanour count of criminal damage, disorderly conduct and urinating in public.

Azari is head of security at the nearby Rockbar concert venue and is thought to have previously clashed with Johnson during heated rows about 'excessive noise'.

He is due in court next week.

MICHELLE KEEGAN'S BALLBAG HORROR

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

RED-FACED Michelle Keegan is choking on a hairy BALLBAG scandal!

The stunning actress and showbiz columnist last night took part in a fashion and beauty question and answer session on Twitter for Hello! magazine.

But the online exchange quickly descended into farce after Michelle was bombarded with EXPLICIT remarks.

One cheeky user 'C*ntyMcFuckstick' asked her: "Do you prefer a man to have a waxed, shaven or au' naturel ball sack and gooch?"

Facial

While another one chortled: "I'll give you a nice facial..."

The slur took the shine off a special week for newlywed Michelle, 28, after it was also revealed she'd landed a lead role in BBC's army drama Our Girl, taking over from Lacey Turner.

Ex Corrie actress Michelle said: "I've watched Our Girl and I'm a massive fan of the series, so I can't wait to be a part of it."

"It's going to be a big but exciting challenge for me so I can't wait to get started."

Man Down – Monday, Channel 4, 10pm

JULIE T WALLACE

Top down!

ARE you man enough to handle these TOPLESS stunnas?

Top comedy series Man Down, starring Greg Davies and Roisin Conaty, returns to Channel 4 this week.

The programme follows the life of hapless schoolteacher Dan (Davies) – a self-confessed “childish idiot trapped in an adult’s life”.

But it’s not all doom and gloom – because old Dan is surrounded by lots of NAKED co-stars!

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Wallander actress Jeany Spark, 32, plays deputy head Emma Lipsey – but fans will remember her FULL FRONTAL role in historical drama Da Vinci’s Demons last year.

Flashed

in the second series. Meanwhile, fellow Brit actress Julie T. Wallace plays Teggan – a non-English speaking woman who Dan meets on a diversity training course after being accused of homophobia.

And we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal the 54-year-old star displayed her whoppin’ boobs in 1986 BBC mini-series The Life and Loves of a She-Devil. Man Down airs on Monday nights at 10pm on Channel 4. It is also available to watch on-demand service All 4.

Hel’s bells!

BLOODY hell, Dirk – looks like another STIFF case! Cult comedy Dirk Gently is back on our screens on Wednesday night at 10pm on BBC4.

The hilarious episode stars Cold Feet and Friends babe Helen Baxendale as the private detective’s girlfriend, Susan.

And she famously went TOPLESS in 1996 telly flick Truth or Dare – arguably her best performance to date.

HELEN BAXENDALE

Docs top list of most sexy jobs

DOCTORS and dentists are the professionals most likely to set a single woman’s pulse racing, according to new research.

The research, by dating website match.com, also busts traditional beliefs – with just one in 500 single women looking for a fireman.

Instead they prefer a dashing doctor like Holby City’s Elliot Hope, played by Paul Bradley (above).

Women also have a soft spot for a geeky guy, with technicians or engineers ranking in the top five.

Drink drive girl nicked for naked pizza ride!

A WOMAN driver has been arrested after she was caught joyriding NAKED and eating pizza.

A witness called police after spotting her standing nude outside a parked before getting in and driving off.

She was seen driving up a curb and through someone's garden before an officer pulled her over.

Alexandria Mauer, 24 (above), had a 33-year-old passenger, Kenneth Gillespie – who was also naked, and holding a beer can between his feet.

Mauer was arrested for driving under the influence and released.

Intoxication

But less than an hour later, she got in an argument with a family member who had picked her up from custody and was again arrested for disorderly conduct/intoxication.

Gillespie – who was on probation for drug possession – urinated in the back of the police car after arrest and was charged with disorderly conduct/intoxication, open container and public indecency.

He was released just later in the morning and given an old pair of trousers and shoes to wear home.

An insider at Westlake County Police, Ohio, said: "She can certainly multi-task."

"But the fact of the matter is that driving naked is wrong – for one thing, you're bound the chafe."

POLICE RESCUE SHEEP FROM TRANNY SEX DEN!

POLICE have rescued a sheep that had been stolen from a zoo and kept in a SEX DUNGEON.

Rosie the sheep was found working alongside a transsexual prostitute – a former shepherdess who had taken up a job at a brothel in Munich, Germany.

It is not clear exactly what Rosie was being used for, but she had been in the knocking shop for nine days when she was finally freed.

She has now been reunited with her family back at Nuremberg Zoo after a brief period in quarantine.

Police were caught by surprise when they carried out a drugs raid on the establishment in the Pasing area of the southern German city and discovered the animal in the brothel.

An officers joked in local media: "We were looking for grass, and we found it. We also found someone that was a big fan of a different type of grass.

"We released a picture of the sheep at the time of the raid, looking for a new home for her, and that was when the zoo got in touch to say that she had been stolen from them."

Zoo spokesman Helmut Magdefrau added: "We are delighted to have her back again. She is fit and doesn't seem to have suffered from her adventure. "There has only been one other case of theft in the last 30 years. A child once stole a penguin, but he brought it back. When you've got that kind of crime rate you can afford to be relaxed."

The transsexual who had the sheep in her room at the brothel claimed it was a pet that kept her company while she was working.

Police said that until recently the 25-year-old worked as a shepherdess in North Rhine Westphalia in Germany where she had some ground and a caravan with a few sheep and goats.

She had given it up after the animals were seized by vets because they had been badly neglected, and without a flock, she had moved to Munich where she got a job in the brothel.

"I am here to tell you they're all lying.

BOXING babe Amy Green is a real KNOCKOUT in the bedroom!

The busty glamour model, from Sheffield, S Yorks, enjoys getting sweaty during late-night gym sessions.

But the 26-year-old admits she'd much rather get all hot and bothered by BOKING!

Amy, who boasts bra-bustin' 32Ds, confessed: "On a normal day I like to have sex probably once or twice.

"But if I'm on a photoshoot away from home I don't get any.

"I can be really cranky when I don't get any sex! In an ideal world I'd do it THREE times a day...every day!

"It's important to have regular sex because it makes you feel good inside and out.

"And it's a really great calorie burner, too.

"Plus, sex is the best cure for a bad mood!"

Sleeping around is GOOD for your marriage!

Sarah Springer
Age 24, 34C-24-34 from Carlisle

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

ARE you thinking about having an affair? Well, according to a new survey, it could actually make your marriage BETTER!

A poll by extra-marital dating site Ashley Madison shows that couples who sleep with other people have more satisfying relationships.

Overall, 81 per cent of women and 78 per cent of men say their marriage has improved since exploring an open relationship.

And being given permission to cheat on their partners has also improved couples' sex lives overall.

Because 65 per cent of women feel that an open marriage has "energized" their relationship with their husbands.

The survey also found that the majority of swingers believe monogamy "is unrealistic and often not possible".

Founder and CEO of Ashley Madison Noel Biderman said: "For many couples monogamy can be quite boring and unsatisfying, leading people down a road of marital unhappiness.

"While some choose to find their satisfaction on the side by discreetly cheating, an increasing number of couples have decided to communicate with their partner about their desires for an open relationship.

Exciting

"Does the rise in open relationships mean that society is starting to become more accepting of non-monogamous relationships?

"And does permission to stray away from a marriage actually mean that it's not infidelity?

"These are questions that I hope our data can help to answer.

"Society's view on marriage, monogamy and relationships is always evolving and we're excited to be at the forefront of this change.

"We are now seeing more couples experimenting with open relationships. I think this will ultimately lead to happier marriages and fewer divorces."

Midweek Sport girl Sarah Springer, from Carlisle, tends to agree with that sentiment.

She reckons that cheating on her boyfriend has made their relationship "a thousand times better".

The 24-year-old beauty told us: "I've been with my bloke since we were at university, but last year we decided to take a break.

"For about a month we both slept with different people, and when we got back together he suggested that we have an open relationship.

"I was a bit surprised, to be honest. But I was also quite happy to explore something new.

"Our sex life has always been great, but there's something so exciting about a one-night stand with a stranger. Until we tried the swinging thing, I didn't realise how much I missed just having casual sex, you know?

"Now we're both happy – and we get to sleep with other people when we like. I don't have to worry about saying, 'Oh, I have a boyfriend...'

"I would definitely recommend an open relationship to anyone who's a bit curious about it."

PIP, PIP HOORAY!

Kate's sister storms charity London to Brighton cycle race

By GARY DORAN gary@sundaysport.co.uk

ROYAL relative Pippa Middleton did her bit for charity by riding from London to Brighton on a pushbike.

The 31-year-old squeezed into her tightest lycra outfit to cycle 54 miles and raise money for the British Heart Foundation.

And, while she was doing it all for a good cause, it was her tight shorts that caused most excitement for onlookers and fellow riders.

One cyclist said: "I was riding my bike behind her for about five miles - it was tricky riding with a bonk on, I can tell you!"

JUICY Jenny Smith says she's a tad greedy in the bedroom – because one man just isn't enough!

The 34DD babe says her ultimate fantasy is a kinky THREESOME with a boyfriend and one of his pals. And even that's not saucy enough for the redhead beauty as she'd love to take the fun OUTDOORS.

The full-time model, 23, from York, revealed: "I fantasise about going on a picnic in a secluded farmer's field with my fella and his mate.

"It all starts off innocent enough. We're all relaxed after a beer or two in the sunshine and then things get touchy-feely.

"Before long we all start kissing passionately and they both touch me intimately.

"I'm quite the nymphomaniac and I'd love to have two guys at once. All the attention would be a major turn-on for me!

"It's an extra thrill to get down and dirty in the great outdoors where you could get caught.

"It's taboo to have more than one

"Life's about different experiences and I'm a very sensual person."

Jenny says that dirty talk really gets her going.

"I love a bit of filthy banter," she said. "It's foreplay in the mind to start texting or emailing your fella what you want to do to them.

"You can really let your imagination run riot – the more explicit the better. "Just make sure you message the right person. I've nearly had a disaster before – you do NOT want to be texting your boss utter filth!"

Everybody needs good neighbours

Dear Krystal,

I WAS in my back garden a couple of weeks ago, soaking up the rays, when my new neighbours looked over the fence.

They're a pair of fit blondes in their early twenties who moved in recently and they asked me round for a few beers and a chat.

Licked

They were both wearing tiny bikinis and after we'd had a few they both went topless!

By this time I was up for fking the pair of them and when they started kissing each other's pert boobs I led them inside and invited them to suck my cock. They both took it in turns until I shot my load.

We then went upstairs and I boned one of them from behind while she licked her mate out.

It sounds too good to be true, I'll admit it, but they want to make it a regular thing.

But last week my landlord said he was going to put my rent up by £50 a week.

I can't really afford it but I desperately want to keep on shagging them.

What should I do?

JT, email

Krystal says...

FIND the money from somewhere. Get a better-paid job – or take a second one. Sell a kidney or donate sperm – and not just to your sexy neighbours! It must be every man's dream – having two fit, young, nympho blondes right next door.

Dear Krystal,

LAST week I went to a lingerie party at a girlie pal's house.

The usual selection of saucy undies and dildos got passed around, with comments such as, "That's the size of my fella's" or "that's twice as big as his".

The conversation moved on to a debate about whose bloke was the most well-endowed.

I've measured my man's and it is nine inches when erect.

One girl wanted to bet £100 that her bloke had the biggest.

I can't afford to lose £100. But is it worth gambling?

IM, Edinburgh

Krystal says...

IF you can't afford to lose £100, don't risk it. Just enjoy his length!

Letter of the day

Dear Krystal,

I RECENTLY got married but domestic bliss is not all it's cracked up to be.

I've always had a really active sex life but since we got wed, my husband's lost interest.

The other night I dressed up in my french maid's outfit in the hope of getting some action. I waited for hours so I could surprise him with a quick shag.

Then he strolled in from the pub, worse for drink, and just wouldn't stop talking about what his daft mates have been up to.

I was so cross that I went upstairs and got down to it with my vibrator and gave myself the best solo seeing-to I could manage.

Next thing I know my pissed hubby is upstairs demanding that I suck on his cock while shoving my sex toy up his ARSE!

I did it with pleasure and he seemed to enjoy it more than he should.

Do you think he's a closet gay?

RS, Herts

Krystal says...

A MAN'S G-Spot is hidden up his anus, and when stimulated right, can deliver amazing orgasms. It's not just gay men who gain pleasure from this.

Mile High memory

Dear Krystal,

I'VE just come back from a holiday in America and my wife and I managed to join the mile-high club on the flight home, with a bonk in the plane's loo.

It wasn't easy getting past the cabin staff, who were very security-conscious.

However, when I got my girl in there it only took me a minute to pull down her knix and start giving her one doggy-style.

Explode

The problem is, I was worried I was taking too long and that we would get caught so I made a mental image of your amazing boobs.

That made me explode nice and quick, thanks.

But I now feel a bit disloyal to the missus, imagining that it was you I was slipping one instead of her.

What do you think?

DD, Lancs

Krystal says...

I'M very flattered and glad to have been a help! I wouldn't go telling your wife, though.

Dear Krystal,

I SNEAKED a peek in my step-sister's diary the other week and found out she has a secret lover.

She doesn't mention him by name in the book, but it's pretty damn clear that it's one of the lads who empties the bins on our estate, once a fortnight.

My step-sis has just turned 18 and is a bit of a looker who my all mates fancy – so I don't know why she's hooked up with this fella from the council.

If our dad found out he'd go ape shit – not just because this lad is a binman, but because she's shagging around.

There's this one particular part in her diary where she clearly describes how she sucked his balls while her hand tugged at his cock and he groaned before shooting his load over her tits – which are massive, by the way!

I feel like a bit of a pervert knowing this but I'm only concerned about our family name and reputation.

Should I tell my dad what I know?

KC, Devon

Krystal says...

NO. It's none of your business and your step-sister's old enough to know her own mind.

Don't go causing trouble between her and your dad. If the truth gets out, you will have to explain how you came by this information.

And that means having to confess you've been snooping around in your step-sister's private things.

Dear Krystal,

MY bird works in a pie factory and she's forever bringing home samples.

I don't mind this but I suspect she's being serviced by the boss, who lets her have the tasty pastries.

Whenever I bring up the subject she goes coy and offers me my favourite cheese and onion slice – while she also gets on her knees and gives me a blowie.

What can I do?

BB, South Shields

Krystal says...

I THINK she likes food too much to be shagging around. Just enjoy her special treats!

BETTER watch out, fellas – almost TWO THIRDS of British women confess they enjoy no-strings ROMPS!

According to a survey by online adult shop Lovehoney.co.uk, 66% of horny ladies say it's possible to have amazing sex without being in love.

And a whopping 65% boast they've slept with someone they had NO emotional connection with.

Overall, just 39% of women think being in love with your partner is the most important factor to sexual happiness.

And 50% of females confessed to sleeping with someone they had just met simply because they were physically attractive.

A Lovehoney spokesman said: "This new research shows women are more prepared to take the lead in the bedroom and enjoy sex for its own sake – without any emotional baggage."

Confidence

"For example, the Fifty Shades of Grey series of books has given women a new sexual confidence over the last three years.

"This is reflected in significant changes in bedroom behaviour over the long term.

"But what has become apparent is that BOTH sexes now have a grown-up attitudes to sex and are enjoying it more."

We asked Midweek Sport stunnas Tanya Thompson, Chloe Saunders and Joanne Greenhill exactly what they thought about no-strings sex romps.

But be warned, readers... their honest answers might just SHOCK you...

WHAT MAKES SEX GOOD?

MEN	WOMEN
1) Love – 48%	1) Love – 39%
2) Sexual chemistry – 14%	2) Sexual chemistry – 29%
3) Sexual confidence – 10%	3) Sexual confidence – 8%
4) Compatible sex drive – 8%	4) A sense of fun – 7%
5) A sense of fun – 6%	5) Compatible sex drive – 5%
6) Appearance – 5%	6) Good technique – 4%
7) Openness to trying new things – 4%	7) Appearance – 3.5%
8) Good technique – 3%	8) Commitment – 3%
9) Commitment – 2%	9) Openness to trying new things – 1.5%

Tanya Thompson says...

I'M not surprised that so many women are enjoying casual sex – I think it's bloody fantastic! When I was at university I had a couple of one-night stands, and most of them were amazing.

If you're drunk and think to yourself, 'I'm never going to see this bloke again', then you lose all your inhibitions and have really wild sex!

In my opinion, when you don't feel self-conscious, the sex is so much better.

Plus, it's great fun when you get to kick the bloke out of bed and send him out to do the walk of shame first thing in the morning... 'See ya!'

Chloe Saunders says...

LET'S just say that casual sex can either be the start of something amazing – or a total disaster! In the past, I've slept with guys I had just met – and if I'm being honest, most of the time it was a little bit disappointing.

However, I did meet my current boyfriend after a boozy one-night stand, so I can't really complain! I think it's possible to have decent sex without being in love, but nothing really compares to sex with your partner.

It's obviously going to feel better because you know each other's bodies better, right?

Joanne Greenhill says...

THE results of this survey have actually made me blush! Personally, I've never had a one-night stand. I have done the 'friends with benefits' thing, but I don't see the appeal of sex with a stranger. I'm quite surprised that so many women say they enjoy casual sex.

I'd much rather have regular sex with a steady boyfriend than have to go out and try to pick up a different bloke every Friday night. I really don't think you need to have sex with loads of different people to feel satisfied. Just use a little imagination!

Brookie

LITTLE

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

PALM-STRETCHING Brookie Little is your next door neighbour from heaven – because she loves to BONK on her BALCONY.

The blonde stunna, from Weybridge, Surrey, is sure the folks next door have ogled her X-rated antics.

And with massive, all-natural 30F boobs, pretty Brookie is hard to miss!

She revealed: "I like having sex outdoors."

"I've actually done it a few times on the balcony outside my flat. That's technically outside, isn't it?"

Horny

"I posted a pic of the view from my flat on Instagram recently and one of my followers messaged to say they were my neighbour – so God knows what they must have seen!"

Bouncy Brookie admits she's also shagged at Reading Festival.

She added: "There was something really horny about the thrill of getting caught. And I'm always happy to show off my boobs!"

"I'm very proud of them. I love being a curvy girl."

"I get a lot of compliments on my boobs – they're the first things guys notice when they see me!"

OUR SPORTS BETTING GURU WILL PUT YOU ON A WINNER!

LATE SHOW:
Lingard can score the final goal

ENGLAND's kids line up against Italy in the European under-21 finals tonight.

It sounds tougher than facing Sweden but really it isn't.

A late winner gave England victory over Sweden which made their recent record ever more impressive.

Their last five games have yielded four wins with the loss coming by the narrowest margin in a scrappy affair against the Portuguese.

In contrast Italy have not won in five, three losses and two draws so it's pretty safe to assume the Three Lions can roll them over.

These games do not bring many goals to the table. If you examine both teams last five outings you find six of them were settled 1-0 and there was a goalless draw.

A 1-0 is the logical option again and England to win by that score pays 13/2 at any number of firms.

Amazingly the match odds place England at 6/4. Given

Get Lin the money with 12/1 tip the records we have just outlined that has to be over the top. Italy are justifiably longer at more than 2/1. It's 21/10 with Skybet but if that's proper odds, I'm a Chinaman.

The draw is a kick in the pants higher than 9/4, generally.

It has to be England with Gareth Southgate's lads knowing only a victory will secure a ticket to the last four.

The Portuguese top the group with four points, while Sweden and England have three with Italy one.

Harry Kane and Carl Jenkinson both missed what can only be classed as 'sitters' on what looked set to be another frustrating day for England against Sweden last weekend.

It's funny how when you are in a red-hot vein of form success tends to breed success but the opposite is equally true and the obvious choice of a goalscorer, Kane, might just be displaying the rigours of a season at Spurs.

It took a spectacular late volley from Jesse Lingard to rescue the England colts.

The Man United attacking midfielder has been put on the road more times than an Amazon package.

The Warrington-born 22-year-old has had — in an obviously brief career — loan spells at Birmingham, Leicester, Brighton and Derby County. The poor lamb is so well-travelled he must barely know his Madras from his Elba.

Whether or not Southgate chooses to reward his match-winning efforts with a starting role against Italy remains to be seen. They tend to like to keep an unshuffled pack at this level so first goalscorer for Lingard doesn't appeal.

But last scorer does. Especially if England rely on another late show from the supersub. It's 12/1 with three of the online fellas, Unibet, 888 and 32Red.

Now it might sound daft to say this about an under-21 player, even if he is 22, but Lingard is an experienced international. He first tested his mettle in an England shirt at under-17 level.

Get on the Manc lad to settle matters against the spaghetti-eating surrender monkeys.

BETS: England to win 1-0 (13/2); Lingard for last scorer (12/1).

Baran home and Hoved

THE pick of the midweek action comes from Hove on Thursday and that's the place we concentrate our efforts on.

Baran Rawhide is a very interesting new recruit to the UK scene. He finished second on his UK debut and his run prompted some research from me; formerly called Druids Jerico he raced once in Ireland but was a performance of some potential.

He won in N1 grade at Waterford by 7.5L in 28.81 taking it up at the third-bend. The greyhound in second was Forge Royal he's come out and won his next three races in some style.

Maffra Sergio finished third beaten a whopping 18L he came out next time and won by 9L. That form is rock solid and given he was eye catching in defeat he looks worth punting in the Maiden contest over 515m.

I'm excited to see Crossfield Zeus make the step up in trip to 695m. I think he will at last get a clear run and we can see what he can do out on the bunny. He was simply brilliant winning an A1 last time and came from what looked an almost impossible position, he was in sixth turning the second-bend.

Home Raider enjoyed a successful raiding party to Monmore recently scoring in the £2,000 to-the-winner 416m event.

I'm always a little wary punting a dog who was not out of same traps last time but I'm going to make an exception here.

This dog was made for the 475m events here and he's got an incredible draw. There are some big names on his inside but they are far from guaranteed to get a clear run and I can see him skipping clear on the outside.

GOLDIE GIVES ME THE HORN AT CARLISLE

OOH it's Carlisle. Don't know if you know but it is the most misleading racecourse in Britain.

I first went at six and cried all the way home because it was called off with fog.

It was me and dad's local track. You approach it from the west and it looks as flat as a pancake.

It was only many years later when I started working in Newcastle I had to approach her from the Tradesman's, if you catch my drift. Past the train station and up Dalston Road.

It was only then that I realised that finish would challenge Towcester. It's like the north face of the Eiger.

There is a relevance to the ramblings because basically in you want to back a Carlisle winner you need a horse that has won over at least a furlong further and most definitely right-handed. Carlisle is what your right hand is for. Mostly. Watch the opener and remember the score. Backing two-year-olds at Cumbria's finest is like throwing £20 in the wind, firing a shot and hoping it falls back in 30 pound coins. It ain't going to happen.

The race that intrigues is the Carlisle Bell Consolation (3.00) and for one horse alone.

According to Joe. I could try to kid myself that is an emotional tip because Joe was dad's name. But it's better than that.

He's trained in Scotland by Jim Goldie who knows his northern racing. According to Joe won this race last year, backed from 25s to 14/1. And I had to go back, check this about four times then stick a fork in my leg to ensure I wasn't dreaming ... he's 11lb LOWER in the handicap today.

If that isn't a plot, I'm off out to knit the aforementioned fog. After nailing blanchmange to the ceiling.

BET: 5pts ew According To Joe.

ASHES COUNTDOWN: FIRST TEST ON JULY 8

MARSH GAS

Shaun's happy just to make Ashes trip

By PAUL MARTIN

SHAUN Marsh has promised his Aussie side will be on their best behaviour in this summer's Ashes series.

Things have been a bit testy between England and Australia ever since the Three Lions had the cheek to start winning the odd match between the two.

Last time it was handbags at dawn several times, with Michael Clarke and Jimmy Anderson carrying on like a pair of little schoolboys at times.

The Aussie skipper got in hot water with the authorities for threatening the England bowler would have his arm broken — classy clobber!

But Marsh says he's not into that kind of nonsense and has pledged to play the Ashes — which starts next month — in a much better spirit.

Stamp

We'll see what happens if the baggy green caps don't have things all their own way but, for now, he sounds like he means it.

He said: "I think it is really important to get out there and show your aggression and put your stamp on the game. That is the Australian way."

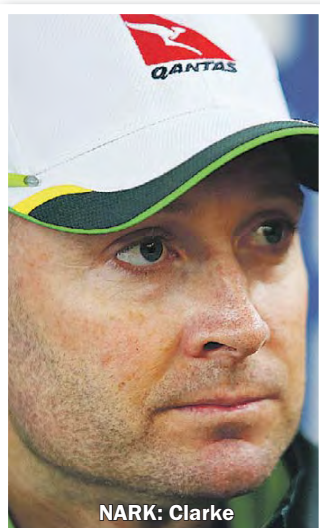

"It is an Ashes series and I am sure there will be sledging from both teams, but I am also sure it will be in the spirit of the game."

"We have seen the English come out and play some really positive cricket over the last four months. It is going to be a really good brand of cricket from both teams."

"We're looking forward to getting out there and putting it right up to them."

It's a massive series for the 31-year-old who is facing England in tests for the first time.

He follows in some illustrious footsteps as his dad is Geoff Marsh who opened the batting for the Aussies in the Allan Border era, making 50 test appearances in the 1980s and 1990s.

MARK: Clarke

And Shaun is likely to be occupying the same position in the order as his old man did back in the day.

He will have to muscle his way ahead of either David Warner and Chris Rogers, who should be fit for the Ashes after a bout of concussion.

And Marsh knows he must up his game to secure a starting spot, saying: "There's going to be lots of stiff competition and I think it's important to go out there and get some runs in the warm-up games and put your case forward."

"I'm happy to bat anywhere in the top six for the Australian cricket team, but it's important for me to hopefully get a big couple of hundreds in the tour games."

Australia take on Kent in their opening tour match tomorrow with the first Test taking place in Cardiff on July 8.

GOOD SPIRIT: Marsh isn't one for sledging

IN FORM: Spieth

Scotland the rave for star Jordan

GOLF

JORDAN Spieth says he's confident of adding The Open to the two Majors he's already won this season.

The 21-year-old took the US Open in style at the tricky Chambers Bay course in Washington.

He's already won the Masters and many are tipping him to be the first player to ever win all four Majors in one season.

And his game will be ideally suited to St Andrews next month as the Old Course is similar to the one he's just tackled.

His game stood up well to the Links challenge and it should be similar in Scotland.

Spieth said: "To go to the Home of Golf in the next tournament is the sole focus, I am not going to look beyond that."

"We will go to St Andrews looking to win the Claret Jug. I believe we will be able to get the job done if we get the right prep in."

"I think it's in the realm of possibility."

"I think that the grand slam is something that I never could really fathom somebody doing, considering I watched Tiger when he was winning whatever percentage of the majors he played in and he won the Tiger Slam, but he never won the four in one year."

"And I figured if anybody was going to do it, it would be him, which he still can."

"Chambers Bay was somewhat of a British-style golf course, so are the next two majors."

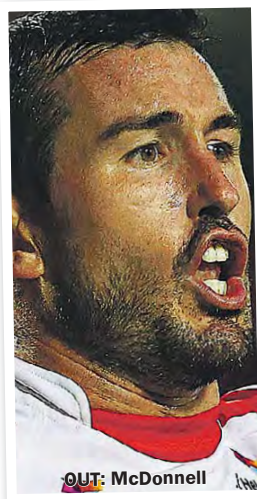

"I've proven to myself that I can win on a British-style golf course now. Now I take it to the truest British-style golf course of any in the world."

"And I'm just excited for the opportunity coming then, and I'm not going to think about what could possibly happen after."

And Spieth is already a huge fan of St Andrews from having played there once on a trip to the UK.

He said: "It's one of my favourite places in the world."

"I remember walking around the R&A clubhouse and seeing paintings of royalty playing golf in 1460-something. They were playing golf here before anyone even knew that America existed. And that really amazed me and helped me realise exactly how special that place is."

OUT: McDonnell

INJURIES BITE IN SUPER LEAGUE

RUGBY LEAGUE

ST HELENS have been rocked by the loss of full-back Shannon McDonnell for the rest of this season.

The 27-year-old snapped an Achilles tendon in the Saints' 25-24 reverse at Castleford last week.

The Aussie will be on the sidelines for up to six months as his injury jinx strikes again.

He was forced out of last year's Grand Final with a knock. Saints coach Kieron Cunningham said: "He has snapped his Achilles. He gets a repair tonight, so we will see him next season. "Shannon has been fantastic and justified the decision I made to bring him over."

It took him a while to get going and get into the system but we were working really hard with him behind the scenes. It was making him a better player and he was in great form. I genuinely feel for him."

Saints are now scrabbling around for quality at full-back with first choice Jonny Lomax out for the campaign and veteran Paul Wellens spending more and more time on the sidelines.

Cunningham is looking to switch winger Adam Swift into the middle for Sunday's Challenge Cup clash with neighbours Widnes.

Mind you, he was stretchered off at Castleford too and will have to pass a fitness test, although he's expected to recover.

Another high-profile player with injury problems is Catalan Dragons star Thomas Bosc.

The stand-off will miss at least the next eight weeks with a knee problem.

The 31-year-old is one of the best in the business in his position and will be a big loss for the French outfit. He was crocked as the Dragons beat basement boys Wakefield at the weekend.

The club confirmed: "Thomas Bosc underwent scans to determine the extent of his injury."

"The Catalans half-back has been ruled out for six to eight weeks after suffering knee ligament damage."

The French lads have an injury list to make St Helens look a picture of health.

They could tumble down the table now Bosc has joined Todd Carney, Willie Tonga, Michael Oldfield and Vincent Duport on the easy list.

Have a Cheeky bet on 6/4 Lions

A STUNNING strike five minutes from time by Jesse Lingard secured a valuable 1-0 win for the Young Lions against Sweden in the Czech Republic on Sunday and Gareth Southgate's side are now 11/10 to qualify for the last four of the Euro Under 21 competition at BetVictor and 10/3 to finish runners up.

Germany remain 6/4 favourites to lift the trophy and they have been the outstanding side in the tournament to date but England are into 9/2 and could easily face the market leaders at the semi-final stage.

England are 6/4 to beat Italy this evening with the Azzurri 19/10 and the draw at 11/5; I was surprised Southgate preferred Tom Carroll to Ruben Loftus-Cheek in his first XI against the Swedes and the England boss has a couple of big decisions to make with Danny Ings and Lingard pressing for a place in the starting line-up.

RUBEN AND BOYS TAKE ON ITALY

Hosts Canada are 11/8 favourites to beat England Women in the last eight of the Women's World Cup in the early hours of Sunday morning.

It would be a wonderful achievement by Mark Sampson's side who are 9/4 to make it through in 90 minutes and 6/5 to qualify.

Germany are 6/4 at BetVictor to win the Women's World Cup and it is possible that Germany will soon be men's and women's world champions and Euro Under 21 winners; that would be some treble.

At Naas this evening I am looking forward to seeing Variable upped in class after a very taking success in a Cork maiden over 12f last time.

Tonight's drop back in distance is a slight concern for this daughter of Sea The Stars but she is held in some regard by Dermot Weld and holds an entry in next month's Irish Oaks.

We were delighted to announce we had signed a deal to be global betting and gaming partners with Chelsea FC on Tuesday and I asked BetVictor Brand Ambassador Michael Owen his thoughts on our celebratory offer of 3/1 for new and existing customers for the Blues' to win any Trophy next season including the Community Shield (max bet £10).

Michael couldn't believe you could win the bet before the start of the PL season (if Chelsea beat Arsenal in the Community Shield) and advised place the bet and when they beat the Gunners at Wembley put the winnings on Chelsea to retain their PL crown.

Michael can't see past Chelsea retaining their PL crown but also advised an interest on three more of our unique markets.

MARCO OUT TO SMACK SOME BOTTI

HORSE RACING

ITALIAN trainer Marco Botti is aiming to go one better in Saturday's Northumberland Plate at Newcastle.

He sends Suegloo north to contest the historic Pitmen's Derby – the last one to be run on turf as Gosforth Park will go all-weather this winter.

Botti has got the horse in top nick but he's a bit concerned about the weight he'll have to carry after finishing second in the race 12 months ago.

The horse is owned by Salford Reds chief Dr Marwan Koukash and he's already got a Chester Cup to his name as well as the runner-up spot in GeordieLand.

Suegloo heads to Newcastle on the back of an excellent effort at Haydock last time where he came home fourth in good company.

That means he's got 4lb more weight on his back than last season.

But Botti is still hopeful of a big performance, saying: "Suegloo is in good shape. He never had a chance from a high draw in the Chester Cup and he could not get involved, but he ran well last time out at Haydock."

Fresh

"He is a few pounds higher than last year and that has affected him a little bit."

"If we do get the rain he does not mind it being on the soft side. Ideally I wish he was going into the race a few pounds lower but he is in great order."

"He is fresh and should be competitive."

Whether or not that is good enough to win is a different question."

Another big Northern handicap is the target for Hughie Morrison's Royal Ascot winner Arab Dawn.

His next target is the Ebor at York in August and he'll be a leading contender after winning the Duke Of Edinburgh Handicap.

And Morrison is thinking about upping his star in trip for the Knavesmire. He said: "We're having a debate about what might be his best trip."

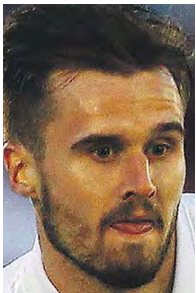

"It could be 10 furlongs, 14 or even two miles. The great thing about him is that he can get himself out of trouble."

"If he settles, we'd love to win an Ebor. That might be the plan. He's also in the John Smith's Cup but that could be a bit sharp."

SNUB: Jenkinson

Jenko says no to Black Cats bid

CARL Jenkinson will say NO to a move from Arsenal to Sunderland.

The Black Cats are mad keen on the England under-21 full-back who has fallen down the pecking order at the Emirates.

Boss Dick Advocaat is happy to pay around £3million for the youngster who was on loan at West Ham last season.

But Jenkinson is cold on a move to the north-east and wants to stay in London, although Southampton are interested in the England international.

Sunderland are set for a busy summer in the transfer market as Advocaat tries to build a squad capable of staying out of the relegation dogfight.

But they also look set to miss out on another defensive target in Liverpool's Tiago Ilori.

He was farmed out on loan to Bordeaux last term and has not played a first-team match since moving to Anfield from Sporting Lisbon in 2013.

Future

The 22-year-old was said to be keen on leaving the club but has been handed a chance to fight his way into the team by Liverpool boss Brendan Rodgers.

And his agent father Kola says his son wants to prove himself on Merseyside rather than head north.

He said: "We talked last week about the future of Tiago."

"Liverpool say they will give him a chance and he can go on the pre-season tour of Thailand."

Advocaat is looking further up the field too and has been cleared to make an £11m move for PSV midfielder Georginio Wijnaldum but Newcastle are also interested.

The Black Cats hope the Dutch connection can lure the 24-year-old their way.

They also want Sebastian Coates who was on loan at the club last season.

The Uruguay defender was brought in from the cold by Advocaat last season and played a big part in the club's Premier League survival.

He's on duty at the Copa America and is a regular in his national side.

Despite that, he seems to be surplus to requirements at Anfield and a cut-price deal for the 24-year-old looks likely.

He made 10 appearances in red and white stripes last season.

GOALIES ON TRANSFER MERRY-GO-ROUND

NO DEAL YET:
Cech is still a

Blank Cech

PETR STILL A CHELSEA MAN DESPITE MOVE TALK

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

IF talented goalie Petr Cech dragged his heels across a six-yard box like he does across a transfer negotiation he would spend the rest of his life stacking shelves at Aldi.

The is he-isn't he? saga that has seen him flirt with Arsenal while promising his heart to Chelsea has been frankly embarrassing.

But the clearest clue about the solution to this sticky-gloved saga emerged yesterday when Gunners goalkeeper David Ospina confirmed Fenerbahce are in talks with his agent over a move as Arsene Wenger closes in on a deal for Cech. Ospina has done well at the Emirates but clearly understands he is off down the road for the benefit of the guy from Chelski.

Arsenal have already been contacted by the Turks over a £3.9million switch and the deal is expected to go through after Cech's £11m move across London is confirmed.

The 26-year-old is waiting to sort out his future until after the Copa America, where he has reached the quarters with Colombia.

But when asked about

Fenerbahce, he said: "They are dealing with my agent. But at the moment, the only thoughts I have are for Colombia — I will not betray my team."

"I'm not in a position to think about a transfer. If I do that I would betray my team-mates. I have total concentration on the national team."

Ospina only joined from Nice for £3m last summer. He was Arsenal's first choice for most of the second half of the season although Arsene Wenger decided to start Szczesny in goal for the FA Cup Final victory over Aston Villa.

However, Arsenal made a move for Cech once it was clear he wanted to leave Stamford Bridge and his priority was to stay in London despite interest from Paris St Germain.

As was widely known last Friday, Cech's team-mates are resigned to him joining Wenger's side. It is believed personal terms of £100,000 a week have been agreed and the only thing holding up the switch is the fee.

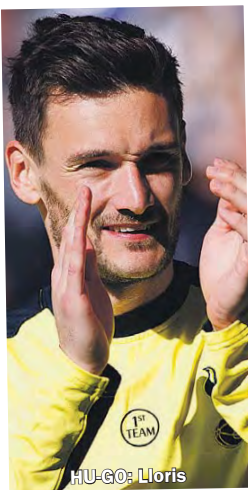

Chelsea want £14m for the 33-year-old but Arsenal are only looking to offer up to around £10m given that the Czech international has just one season left on his contract.

But a compromise of £11m is expected to be reached and an announcement is imminent. Arsenal's deals are in turmoil as Man City let it slip that they fancy Jack Wilshere should their bid for Paul Pogba go awry.

Wilshere is a home-grown talent in the red and white end of north London but a £40m offer — which City are allegedly due to put on the table — might turn both the player and the governing board's heads.

City were mad-keen on Pogba but Juventus have put an extreme £71m ransom on his head and while Real Madrid and Barcelona might cough that much it is unrealistic to expect City's admittedly rich owners will match that valuation.

HU-GO: Lloris

HU'S ON GO TO OLD TRAFFORD

By JOHN ANTHONY

MANCHESTER United will offer £25m for Hugo Lloris as the man to replace David De Gea.

And that will prompt Spurs to launch an audacious bid for Real Madrid legend Iker Casillas to be their new stopper.

The 28-year-old French skipper has been a big hit since moving to White Hart Lane in 2012.

Louis Van Gaal already has the services of former Barcelona number one Victor Valdes at Old Trafford but he's been out with injuries for so long that he is looking for a more solid number one.

The De Gea deal with Real Madrid is all but done and United would flip the likely transfer fee immediately to avoid any uncertainty over who their first-choice keeper will be as they go back into the Champions League next season.

Spurs boss Mauricio Pochettino doesn't want Lloris to head to Manchester but Casillas arriving in London would soften the blow.

The 34-year-old former Real and Spain captain has been sidelined at Madrid since falling out with Jose Mourinho when he was manager at the Bernabeu.

He did say he wanted to stay at the club but he's been told in no uncertain terms that De Gea will be the club's number one.

And the new man coming in doesn't want a legendary figure like Casillas in the background.

Another keeper on his way to the Premier League is Kristoffer Nordfeldt who has signed for Swansea City from Dutch first division side Heerenveen.

Both clubs are tight-lipped about the fee for the Swedish international but it is thought to be in the region of £500,000.

The 26-year-old has five caps for his country and would have been worth a lot more money had he not been in the final year of his contract in Holland.

And City are after another goalie to provide competition to Lukasz Fabianski who had an up and down season last year.

They are also on the verge of bringing in Guillermo Lara from Barcelona.

The 19-year-old has earned rave reviews with his efforts for the Barca under-21 side and he's chosen not to sign a new contract at the Camp Nou.

He would be available on a free transfer, although the Swans may have to pay the Catalan giants compensation when their transfer embargo ends.

PRICE CUT: Benteke

United up for Benteke bargain

MANCHESTER United are the latest team to be interested in Aston Villa striker Christian Benteke.

Louis Van Gaal was originally reluctant to cough up the £32.5 million release clause in the striker's contract.

It looked as if that would be the fee required when Liverpool and Tottenham were also circling the big forward.

But it seems that common sense has prevailed for once and none of the interested clubs looks set to offer anything like that.

If Benteke's price was to fall to around £20m then the Dutch master would be interested in a move.

Losing

Van Gaal is looking to strengthen his forward line after Radamel Falcao moved to Chelsea and with Robin Van Persie thought to be out in the cold.

He also has the advantage of having several fringe players that Villa might take in part exchange after losing out on Tom Cleverley who went to Everton after being on loan in the Midlands last season.

United refuse to comment on speculation that Sergio Ramos will be joining the club from Real Madrid.

The defender is said to be unhappy at the Bernabeu and the 29-year-old is being linked with the deal taking goalie David De Gea to the Spanish capital.

Ramos has a ridiculous £145m buy-out clause in his contract which will be a puzzle to anyone who has seen him play — Madrid are not known for their excellent defending.

KOP SPEND STERLING MONEY ALREADY!

FIRM OFFER

Reds like look of £20m Brazil star

By MIKE MURRAY

FIRMINO, Mourinho, let's all go on a beano.

Liverpool are hoping their latest holiday-time transfer target can do for Anfield what Jose did for Stamford Bridge.

Roberto Firmino is firmly in Brendan Rodgers cross-sights and it looks increasingly likely the Anfield Reds are about to snatch the Brazilian ace from under the noses of bitter rivals Manchester United.

He plays for Hoffenheim in Germany. He is set to cost the Kop £20million but for that price they will get a five-year steal.

Firmino is currently away with Brazil at the Copa America, where he banged in the winner against Venezuela on Sunday.

He moved to the Bundesliga in 2011, scoring 35 goals in 140 appearances for Hoffenheim.

The player's agent indicated that his client would certainly leave Germany this summer, with the Premier League his likely destination.

Firmino is a colourful character.

He was almost dumped by the Hoffs for turning up late for training which for a soccer boy is pretty damn poor.

He made his international debut for Brazil in November 2014 and represented the nation at the 2015 Copa America.

Team captain Andreas Beck has hailed Firmino's development as "outstanding". He finished the 2013-14 Bundesliga season tied as the fourth highest scorer with 16 goals.

Meanwhile, the agent of Monaco defender Aymen Abdennour has named Liverpool as one of a number of top clubs interested in his client's signature.

The centre-back has been linked with a move away from the principality all summer, and now his agent, who isn't named, has said the Reds are a potential suitor.

He said: "There are lots of big clubs interested in Abdennour."

"There are clubs that have approached us and will make contact with Monaco."

"There is AC Milan, Inter, Barca and Liverpool."

"Juventus, they have seen Monaco."

"Other clubs, Inter Milan and AC Milan, will make an offer."

"I do not think Monaco will oppose Aymen's departure."

Abdennour is said to be available for around £9m.

The transfer moves signal that the club is already spending the money they will get in from flogging off Raheem Sterling to Man City.

The Blues have had a couple of offers snubbed by the Reds and they are ready to come back with the £50m Liverpool want to prise him away from Anfield.

City's football development chief Patrick Vieira is the latest figure at the club to come out and declare their admiration for the England winger.

Sterling has turned down a new deal at Liverpool on wages of £100,000 a week and few at the club expect him to be there for pre-season training.

And Vieira would like to see the 20-year-old in a laser blue shirt next season.

He said: "I think if you go down and ask 10 people what they think about him, I think nine would give you a positive answer."

"I would be part of the nine people because he's shown how good he is, how well he's been doing at Liverpool."

BARGAIN: Firmino (left) would be a steal at £20m

Garbutt stays...and goes!

EVERTON'S highly rated left-back Luke Garbutt is putting pen to paper on a new five-year deal — and then leaving the club.

He's off to Bournemouth on a season's loan as he tries to build up his Premier League experience.

The 22-year-old is currently part of the England under-21 team doing battle in the Czech Republic.

But he's very well thought of at Goodison Park and boss Roberto Martinez wanted to get the deal signed before allowing him to head for the south coast.

The Toffees got Garbutt from Leeds in 2009 and there were fears that he would walk out on the club as he struggles to keep Leighton Baines out of the side. But he's been persuaded that his long-term future is on Merseyside and he'll be a major asset to the Cherries this season too.

CISSE PLEADS FOR TOON FUTURE

By PETE BAILEY

PAPISS Cisse has begged Newcastle boss Steve McClaren to give him another chance.

The former England boss is keen to dump the striker and is willing to offer around £10million.

The 30-year-old Senegal international blotted his copybook last season despite scoring 11 goals in 11 starts.

He was banned or crooked for most of the season as Newcastle flirted with the drop.

The lowest point came when he gobbled all over Man United defender Jonny

Evans and copped a seven-match ban for his trouble.

The Toon LOST all seven of the games he missed as hapless boss John Carver steered the club down the table.

Besiktas have made a cheeky offer for Cisse, while a couple of Premier League sides are prepared to come closer to Newcastle's valuation.

McClaren wants cash to fund a move for Charlie Austin and is also thinking about bringing back Andy Carroll from West Ham.

But Cisse doesn't want to make way for new strikers.

He said: "I say to the new manager, think about me."

"I am already at Newcastle and when I come back from holidays I will work as hard as I can for the team."

"I have a one year and a half contract with this team."

"Newcastle have me at the club already and it would be good for them to protect what they have got and I know English football now."

And Cisse has talked of his happiness at being able to play his part in keeping the club in the top flight.

He said: "The last match was great. I didn't care that I didn't score, I just wanted the team to win."

"It was fantastic to get the win we needed and stay up."

McClaren values Austin at around £15m and he's also keen on French striker Florian Thauvin from Marseille.

He would come in at around the same price and would be just the type of signing from France the Toon have done well with in recent seasons.

BRONZE GOING FOR GOLD

ENGLAND women continue to put the men to shame in the World Cup — and fancy their chances of going all the way.

The Lionesses set up a quarter-final against hosts Canada after coming from behind to beat Norway 2-1 in their second-round match.

The winner came courtesy of a 25-yard screamer from Lucy Bronze after skipper Steph Houghton had equalised with a brave header.

And the right-back's wonderstrike came as no shock to hear team-mates who have seen her do it many times in training.

And now England face the prospect of playing in front of 50,000 as the Canadians get excited about the tournament reaching the knock-out stage.

The Norway win got a monkey of the Lionesses' back as it was their FIRST EVER win outside the World Cup groups.

Salmon said of the Canada clash: "What a terrific game that's going to be."

"We saw when Canada won their match that it was a sold out crowd and now we can look forward to that and put this game to bed."

"Scoring the goal is a bit of history but it was a team effort and it was a very tough game to play in. I'm ecstatic that we've won."

Shoot

But don't ask the Man City defender to describe her crucial goal.

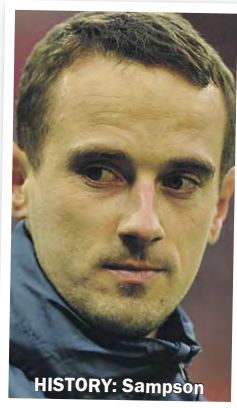

She added: "I don't remember it!"

"Normally I'd pass, but in training people have said why don't you shoot when you're on the edge of the box?"

"Shoot, shoot, you're always there!" so in my head I thought 'I'm going to shoot!'"

The quarter-final should be a bigger challenge than that posed by the Norwegians.

As well as being roared on by a massive home crowd, the Canadians are made up mainly from full-time players and are world number eight on the FIFA rankings.

That said, England are all professionals these days and stand a couple of places higher in sixth.

And their fitness was a big factor against the Scandinavians, who are mostly part-time players.

Gaffer Mark Sampson is thrilled by the way his team is performing.

He said: "The team have made history."

"They deserve all the credit in the world."

"We knew this was a big game for them and they wanted to ink their names in women's football history and the team have delivered for their country."

"If you concede the first goal it's incredibly difficult to win the game."

"The players have shown resilience, character and excellent game discipline to come back and win that match and we'll take huge confidence from this victory."

"The objective was to get to Vancouver. We're there now and we want this journey to continue."

ENGLAND U21 v ITALY U21: LIONS

DANNY'S A BENCH PRESSER

Ings sets sub standard as Young Lions target semis

By JOHN ANTHONY

DANNY INGS says he's happy to be a bit-part player in England's Euro 2015 campaign — as long as the team keeps winning.

The new Liverpool striker has started on the bench so far as Harry Kane has been preferred up front in a lone role by manager Gareth Southgate.

But Ings is just fine with that.

After losing their opening game against Portugal 1-0, the Young Lions bounced back with a hard fought victory against Sweden by the same scoreline.

Now they face bottom-of-the-group Italy tonight knowing that they only have to match the Swedes' result to make the semi-finals.

Ings is being considered for a starting role against the Azzuri as he made a major impact when coming off the bench at the interval last time.

Hitman

That would mean Southgate reshuffling his one up front tactics — or dropping Kane, which is unlikely to happen.

And Ings says he totally understands the manager's plan and doesn't mind playing a supporting role to the Spurs hitman.

He said: "You've got to put the frustration to one side, really."

"You have got to respect who the manager picks and his team and be ready when called upon. I thought I did that when I came on against Sweden."

"I just made sure that I was ready for when he was ready to put me on and hopefully I made a difference."

Ings played in a deeper role to Kane in that match and was a real handful for the Swedish midfield and back line.

So he could be pushed into that role again for the crucial clash.

Another man looking to break into the side is Chelsea midfielder Ruben Loftus-Cheek.

He impressed when coming on in the second-half as Sweden were getting on top in the match.

Early

He's bounced back well from club boss Jose Mourinho saying he was lazy on their recent US tour.

And Southgate is a big fan of the 19-year-old who he sees as part of the next generation of Young Lions.

He said: "We know it's early stages for him. He

Wilson heading back to Rangers

DANNY Wilson has returned to Rangers — five years after he left the club for an ill-fated move to Liverpool.

The centre-back is the first signing of the Mark Warbuton era as he moves from Hearts.

And he will be joined by Wigan defender Rob Kiernan on a two-year deal.

Wilson never made the grade at Anfield after a £2m switch and was soon back at the Jambos where he's been for more than two years.

He first played for the Gers aged 17 and was quickly identified as a hot prospect.

After just 24 appearances for the light blues, he was tempted south and is only 23 now.

But now he's back and is delighted to be at the club again.

He said: "I'm really grateful for the opportunity to come back and show people how I've grown as a player and as a person."

"I'm looking forward to just getting under way and showing people what I've learned."

Drop

"I think if I look at myself now compared to as an 18-year-old I'm a much better professional and I have a lot more experience of just life in general."

He leaves a Premiership side to drop down a division but he insists it is the right thing to do.

He added: "Obviously in an ideal world, Rangers would be in the top flight, but as it is we are not just now. We need to put in the work to get us there."

"It's not something I am overly fussed about. Last season we managed to go up and hopefully it's more of the same this year."

And Wilson is happy to link up with David Weir again. The current Gers number two was his central defensive partner in his first spell at Ibrox.

He added: "He was a massive influence on me when I was so young."

"I'm glad he is here. Rangers have still got a massive pull and I am more than happy to be back."

"I left Hearts on fairly good terms and I wish them all the best but I felt it was time for a move and to sample something new."

"I think a lot of people will laugh when I say something new but this is a different experience for me to the last time I was here and something I'm looking forward to."

hasn't looked out of place at all in terms of the training.

"He's a different profile of player to any other midfield players and it's very early stages for him learning the game at first-team level and with us."

"But I think that innocence of youth sometimes ... he goes on and plays with the freedom that he did for 20 minutes."

"He kept looking at the bench for reassurance that he was standing in the right place and that type of thing."

"He's a boy that we want to develop at the right speed but we think he's got a promising future."

And Southgate has another gem in Jesse Lingard who powered in the winner against Sweden.

The youngster is highly rated at Manchester United but his progress has been hindered by a knee injury that kept him out for Southgate said: "He's an intelligent footballer."

Injured

"He has got a goal in him because he's a calm finisher. He's been at United since he was very young."

"Physically he is a late developer. He started the first game of the season for United but then got injured."

"We made sure he stayed part of the group."

England have a major boost at the back with the return of Everton's John Stones after his enforced ban due to concussion.

And Southgate is impressed by the way his players have coped without him and West Bromwich striker Saido Berahino who was crocked on the eve of the tournament.

He added: "We had to do a lot of work making sure all of the noise around us didn't affect us."

"We've made a step in the right direction."

"Getting through is in our hands now."

"I think the momentum starts to swing with us a little bit now and that's tournament football."

We'll get the job done says gaffer Southgate

By MIKE MURRAY

YOUNG LIONS boss Gareth Southgate says his England side is ready to fire into the Euro 2015 semis.

The under-21s only need to match Sweden's result when they take on bottom placed Italy tonight.

And Southgate is brim full of confidence after his boys overcame the tough Swedes to stand one game from a semi spot.

The boss said: "It's in our hands. But there's still a lot to do. We are confident, we were confident before the Sweden game.

"We knew it would be tough to break them down because they had the buoyancy of three points.

"But we have got there and it's all in our hands now.
